

Election Rally For Tomorrow

Nominees for Top Posts To Give Platforms

Students will be given a chance to meet candidates for the highest student administrative posts at an election rally to be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Union Ballroom.

NOMINEES TO SPEAK

The rally, which is held every year before the elections, will give the candidates a chance to outline their platforms and proposed changes. Nominees for the positions of President of the Student Society, of the Union, of the Women's Union, and of the MWSAA will each have the opportunity to speak for five minutes. All other candidates will be introduced to the audience.

S.E.C. CANDIDATES

The principal speakers will include Jim Robb, Law 2, and Mike Brodeur, Med 1, nominees for the presidency of the Students' Society, the post now held by Mel Rothman.

UNION POSTS

Another important post to be contested is that of President of the Men's Union. The present vice-president, John Jonas, Eng. 4, is opposed for this position by Ian Bruce, Eng. 3.

Also to be contested is the post of President of the Women's Union. The candidates who will address the assembly on Tuesday are Joyce Iverson, Arts 3, and Pauline Mowat, Science 3.

MWSAA

In addition, three girls, Barbara Durbin, Comm. 3; Jeannette Halford, Science 3, and Bente Jepson, Arts 3, who are contesting the position of President of the MWSAA, will speak for five minutes each.

ELECTIONEERING

Already considerable electioneering has been done by the candidates. Last week nominees addressed

Hill to Conduct Annual Elections

Elections for the executive of Hill will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at Hill House, 3460 Stanley Street.

For President, voters will decide between two men, Neil Gillman and Gerald Charnock.

Two vice-presidents are to be chosen from three people: Shirley Bloomstone, Vivian Chrom, and Roslyn Kornbluth. Yoine Goldstein and Helen Ross will contest the position of Secretary.

Irene Melton has been acclaimed as Treasurer.

Rutherford Prize Open to Students

The J. M. Rutherford Memorial Prize of $100 is offered annually for some original work or study undertaken by a student of the University, on his own initiative, preferably outside the regular work for his or her degree. Candidates may be nominated by any member of the University staff or may apply in writing directly to the Registrar, submitting evidence of their qualifications.

Applications or nominations must reach the Registrar not later than April 1st. The award will be made by the University Scholarships Committee.

World Events

Tehran—Premier Mossadegh dismissed his Army chief of staff today, and fought stubbornly to restore his grip over Parliament and the country while mobs in the streets turfed against him with cries of "Death to the Shah!"

Ottawa—Canada will lift most of her meat and livestock import controls probably tomorrow, immediately following the end of the year-long U.S. embargo on Canadian meat.

Vienna—Intelligence reports indicate a small amount of active armed resistance, a large amount of sabotage, and increasing dissatisfaction among the Iron Curtain countries.

Ankara—Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey signed a mutual pact of friendship on Saturday, in which they agreed to collaborate for defence.

several large classes and they plan to speak to more before the day of the elections.

POLLING BOOTHS

Women's polling booths will be located in the Women's Common Room in the Arts Building, while men's polling booths will be situated in the various faculty buildings.

Two WUSC Scholarships To Be Awarded at McGill

Scholarships will be awarded to two McGill students to attend World University Service of Canada's five-week seminar in India this summer, the McGill WUSC committee announced last night.

Application forms will be available starting today in the Students' Society office on the main floor of the union.

John Scott, chairman of the WUSC committee, said a joint student-faculty selecting committee would be set up to select the two McGill scholarship holders.

Thirty-two Canadian students and eight professors will join about ten American students and fifty Asian delegates for the Canadian-sponsored seminar, whose theme will be "The Human Implications of Development Planning."

FORD GRANT

The seminar is being financed by a $40,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to WUSC, as well as grants from provincial governments.

Mr. Scott said he expected he would be able to announce later this week the site of the seminar and the precise dates the Canadian delegates would leave and return to Canada.

SITE

The WUSC announced in Toronto last week that although the site had not been finally determined, it would probably be in the state of Mysore. The Canadian group will probably leave Canada at the end of May and return about the middle of August.

Following the seminar delegates will participate in study tours in India, Pakistan, Burma, Malaya and Indonesia. They will study Colombo Plan and Point Four Technical Assistance projects, as well as visit universities in India and Pakistan.

EXPENSES

The scholarships will cover transportation to and from India and accommodation for the five weeks of the seminar, but Canadian delegates will have to pay their own expenses while on the study tours.

Mr. Scott said he had been informed that these expenses would likely amount to about $500, but that a better estimate would be available later this week.

SELECTION

The selections committee would be guided by the following considerations in choosing the two McGill winners, he said.

"Preference will be given to senior undergraduates, or recent graduates, with superior academic standing who have demonstrated outstanding qualities of leadership in student affairs, who will be returning to a Canadian university and who, by reason of these qualifications, are best suited to give direction and leadership in international thinking in the university."

Applications should be accompanied by three supporting letters and other documents which will contribute information regarding the academic ability, character and leadership qualities of the candidate.

Ottawa—The Canadian House of Commons, already past the halfway mark in the present session, still has more than three quarters of its work to get through.

Final Meetings of Year

Speakers, Annual Elections Planned by Psychology Club

Nominations and elections for the 1953-54 executive will be the keynotes of the two final meetings of the Psychology Club for this year.

Dr. Klegghorn of the Allan Memorial Institute will address the club at the first of the two meetings. This meeting, which will be open for nominations, will be held during the week of March 8th. The topic, exact date, and time of Dr. Klegghorn's talk will be announced in the Daily and by poster later this week.

The following week, on Thursday, March 19th, at eight o'clock in the Union, Dr. Dufresne will speak on the topic, "Psychology as a Profession Today." Dr. Dufresne is the Chief Psychologist of the Department of Veterans' Affairs for the district of Montreal.

He is also Visiting Professor in Psychology at the University of Montreal, lecturer for graduate students at McGill, Vice-President of the Quebec Psychological Association.

Foreign Pen Pals Ask for Letters

Three foreign students — one in Germany, another in France and a third in Cuba — have sent their names to World University Service of Canada, saying they would like to correspond with Canadian students.

Graduates' Society Emits Plans Hopes to Attract Class of 1953

By DON ALLEN

Reduced membership fees and other special arrangements designed to introduce this year's graduating classes to the aims, activities and interests of the McGill Graduates' Society have been announced by the Society executive.

The move is stated in keeping with the organization's policy of attempting to persuade the young graduate to join at Convocation rather than to postpone the move until he feels that he is in a position to contribute to the upkeep and expansion of the University.

Graduates' Society officials stress that the interest and active participation of young graduates constitutes a "vital contribution" to the Society program.

MEETING PLANNED

A meeting of Society officials with newly-elected Class Officers of graduating classes of all faculties and schools is planned for the purposes of introducing class executives to the scope of Society activity and of arranging details for class membership campaigns.

All graduating students are to be approached after Convocation ceremonies and invited to join the Society. Mr. D. Lorne Gales, General Secretary, told The Daily in outlining tentative plans. Each member of the graduating class will receive through the mails about March 15 a complimentary copy of the Spring, 1953 issue of The McGill News, quarterly magazine on McGill activity which is prepared for the 8,000 members of the Society. Reduced membership rates, Mr. Gales states are to be $2 for the remainder of 1953 or $5 for the period up to December 1954.

SCOPE Music Recital Postponed Three Days

The SCOPE music recital which was originally scheduled for Thursday of this week has been postponed for three days to Saturday, March 5, at 8:30 p.m. in Moyse Hall.

The recital, the last SCOPE presentation for this year, will be the public premiere of a trio composed of Hyman Bress, violin, Walter Joachim, cello, and John Newmark, piano.

Although this is the first time these artists have performed together in public, they are all well known individually in music circles in Montreal and throughout the world.

Hyman Bress, the violinist, comes from South Africa. He has been studying in the United States, and recently graduated, with top honors from the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, where he held a scholarship.

One of his latest public appearances was as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leonard Bernstein in a performance of the Mendelssohn concerto. He has also appeared with "Les Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal" under Wilfred Pelletier and with the Pelletier Symphoniques under Roland Leduc. Walter Joachim, the cellist, was a pupil of the late Emmanuel Feuermann, and has played in concerts in Asia and Europe. During the war he spent 12 years in Shanghai, where he participated in the musical life of that city.

John Newmark, the pianist has appeared many times in Montreal musical presentations. He has accompanied several soloists in Carnegie Hall.

The program on Saturday will consist of the Beethoven Trio Op. 1, the Brahms Trio No. 3 and a trio by Dvorak. The Beethoven and Dvorak works are Montreal premieres.

Freshmen Debaters in Finals For Arts and Science Trophy

By LARRY GENENDER

The freshman ASUS debating team of Bob Landier-Hoffmann and David Franklin defeated third year champions Ben Greenberg and Isidore Yablon to move into the ASUS Debating Final against the winners of the semi-final between second and fourth years.

In successfully upholding the affirmative of the resolution "Resolved That Capital Punishment Be Abolished in Canada", Landier-Hoffmann and Franklin became the first freshmen to ever reach the finals. Greenberg and Yablon were last year's winners of the ASUS debating competition.

In upholding the resolution, the affirmative maintained that capital punishment was opposed by the Ten Commandments, and that society does not hold the right of life and death over an individual.

They argued that there is some good in every man, and that society should try and bring out that good through rehabilitation instead of destroying it by capital punishment. It cited examples where injustice had been irreparably done, and presented statistics to show that a decline in crime had been the result where capital punishment had been abolished.

The negative, on the other hand insisted that capital punishment is needed as a warning to criminals and to protect society against them. Maintaining that no law can change the psychological attitude of an individual, it argued that as long as capital punishment helps prevent crime, it is serving its purpose.

Prison, the negative asserted, is no answer, as 95% of those in prison get out. It deplored prisons as reform institutions, saying that hardened criminals are a bad influence on the other prisoners.

In awarding the decision to the

UN CLUB

The last general meeting of the UN Club will be held tomorrow in the Union at 1 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

This weekend, two McGill debaters Leonard Cohen and Avrum Cohen, successfully upheld the affirmative of the resolution "that this House would welcome a closer alliance between the members of the British Commonwealth and the United States" against Osgoode Hall School in Toronto.

RESOLUTION DEFINED

Leonard Cohen, in proposing the resolution, defined the alliance as a spiritual union, and invited the House "to leave behind the dull, the trite, and the contemporary, and to soar with me to the delightful realm of the poetic." He emphasized the spiritual bankruptcy of the United States, and urged an alliance of "mad dogs and Englishmen." He stressed the fact that the affirmative was not proposing a plan but was merely asking the House to affirm the desirability of a principle.

OSGOODE SPEAKER

The first speaker for the negative felt that the affirmative had presented no arguments which merited refutation. After speaking rather briefly, he returned to his seat, feeling that more adequate facts would have to be presented by the affirmative if the resolution was to have any chance of being passed, or even properly debated.

BIPOLAR WORLD

Avrum Cohen spoke of the bipolar world which we live in, and of the necessity for more unity in "the dangerously loose alignment of anti-Soviet forces." Advisory boards, he suggested, could be established to the discuss important economic and political matters, "and to work towards the elimination of the evils and suspicion arising out of unilateral action." He also brought the attention of the House to the fact that the negative "had not ever had to make. The debate was chaired by Eddy Blanshuy.

Ticket Sales Open For English Play

Tickets go on sale today for the English Department's production of Euripides' Hippolytus to be presented in Moyse Hall on March 12, 13, and 14.

Professor Porter will have tickets for sale from 3 to 4 today in Room W235. Regular box-office hours will be announced later.

Leading roles in the tragedy will be filled by Gregory Friend, Jacqueline Ney, Edward Bell and Julia Anne Holden. Mr. Friend plays the puritan hero, and Miss Ney is Phaedra, the step-mother who loves and destroys him. Mr. Bell plays her husband, Theseus, and Miss Holden, known to McGill audiences as a soprano comedienne in the Red and White Revue, has turned herself into a grim old woman, the nurse who corrupts her mistress.

REBUTTAL

Avrum Cohen, giving the final rebuttal for the affirmative stressed that the resolution as proposed by the affirmative had remained essentially unchallenged and that even on their own grounds the negative had presented a very weak case based on assumptions which have no foundation of truth in the realm of past and current politics.

The panel of judges, consisting of one of the Osgoode debaters who recently debated at McGill and two other Osgoode debaters decided in favour of the resolution.

Six Contest Positions in ASUS Race

Nominations were collected from the Tuck Shop prematurely, and as a result it was mistakenly reported that the post of President for the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society was filled by acclamation. It was also reported that no nominees had been entered for Treasurer.

Between that time and the official deadline, further nominations have been received.

Three people, Sam Clark, B.Sc. 3; Louis Schiff, B.Sc. 3, and Donald Stirling, B.A. 3, have been nominated for the position of president. In addition Eric De Becker, B.A. 2, Tim Wallis, B.Sc. 2, and Harold Yarosky, B.A. 2, will contest the post of second vice-president.

Five positions in the ASUS have been acclaimed. The post of first vice-president will be filled by Edith Kennedy, B.Sc. 2. The Recording Secretary for the next year will be Barbara Notkin, B.Sc. 1, while the Corresponding Secretary will be Ruth Dickstein, B.Sc. 1. The new Athletic Representative is Jack Novick, B.A. 2.

Shutterbugs Plan To Hold Contest

The Camera Club is holding a photography contest for all those who are interested in photography.

The contest is divided into several sections: portraits, scenery, and miscellaneous. Several prizes will be awarded to the winning entries in the three classes.

Judging will be done on Wednesday, in the Union, at 8 p.m. After the contest, the Camera Club executive for next year will be elected.

A member of the contest committee said that the number of entries is expected to be a record one, judging by the number of enlargements received to date.

Berlin—Mayor Ernest Reuter declared that he doubts if the Russians can ever completely seal off West Berlin completely, and prevent the flow of refugees from the Communist zone.

DAILY NOTICE

The Daily will cease regular publication for this season with the issue of Thursday, March 5th, the Managing Board has announced.

A special issue will be published on Thursday, March 12, announcing the Students' Executive Council and Students' Athletic Council awards, which will be presented at the joint SEC-SAC banquet that night. As in former years, a special 10-page Convocation issue will be mailed to all students about the end of May.

All clubs desiring publicity for events scheduled after March 4th should hand in material not later than tomorrow afternoon. All such information should be given to Ellohim Raman, News Editor, Art Guttmann, Associate News Editor, or Selma Skol, Assistant News Editor.

The News Department will attempt to give coverage to all important events for which publicity is received, but space in the remaining three issues will be necessarily limited.

Coming Events columns will appear in the March 12th issue, covering all events scheduled for the remainder of the academic year for which coming events forms have been received. Forms will be collected from The Daily Mail Boy in the Union at noon on March 11th.

Using Democratic Machinery

We are happy to note that the Revision of the Criminal Code now before a parliamentary committee is itself being revised.

There was little doubt that the Revision as it originally stood was open to much reasonable criticism. It contained sweeping and ill-defined sections, particularly those relating to treason and sedition.

It seems to us that one of the most important aspects of the process of law-making is the way in which the law is put. It is essential that the law of any free land be clearly defined and specifically stated, that as little as possible be left to interpretation which might not be in the spirit in which the law was intended. Those sections of the Revision to the Criminal Code dealing with treason and sedition were in many cases exceedingly badly drafted and lacking in judicial precision of statement.

The fact that it is now being studied with a view to proper implementation in terms of justice is a tribute to the effectiveness of the democratic system. That there was a strong and widespread protest against these aspects of the bill indicates something of the cool sense of fairplay of the Canadian people. That this criticism is having its effect serves admirably to show that our democratic government is sensitive to the wishes of the people.

This case also indicates that those who advocate abolition of the Canadian Senate are not completely correct when they speak of its 'uselessness'. For the Senate was designed to act exactly as it has done in this matter, as a check upon over-hasty and carelessly drafted legislation. For the present reconsideration by a parliamentary committee is a direct result of a Senate amendment — of Senate cautiousness.

It is also the credit of the Canadian people that they have not allowed Communist opposition to the sections in question deter them from expressing concern over the vagueness of the terms used in the legislation. Again this is indicative of courageous, clear thinking.

It is well to note — under Stalin the situation would have been completely different. In the first place it is doubtful the government would have bothered to write a law; in the second, if they had, the law would have borne little resemblance to this one; in the third, any expressed opinion of the people would have had no effect upon its passage.

The only way we can keep our democratic machinery in good working order is by using it — let us continue to use it as well and as wisely as in this affair. D. G.

Hooliganism

Elsewhere in these columns the reader will note we have reprinted a comment from the Ottawa Citizen concerning the reception Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the Red Dean aroused at London, Ontario. We agree with the Citizen, but are surprised that they made no mention of the incredible statement made by the President of Western, Edward Hall.

President Hall said (as quoted by a Canadian Press Dispatch), "he got what was coming to him. I understand he fled and I think that's wonderful. This will do something to belie people who say Canadian Universities are riddled with Communist supporters."

This doesn't seem to us the sort of statement a respected and intelligent educational leader would be expected to make on a matter such as this. Much as we disapprove of Dr. Hewlett Johnson's politics, and of those who are foolish enough to credit anything he might say, we also disapprove of hooliganism; and somehow we feel President Hall should have too.

However much one may disapprove of certain opinions it is contrary to our democratic tradition to use force and hooliganism to prevent their expression; the sanctioning of such methods by someone in a position of leadership strikes us as a singularly unhealthy sign. If university students are traditionally ebullient, educational leaders and presidents of Universities are traditionally wise and clear thinking.

No better impression is given by the refusal of the University of Alberta authorities to allow the campus political club have Dr. James Endicott speak on the campus. This sort of outright refusal would be out of place in any free society, but it is doubly surprising coming from University authorities, who are supposedly concerned with the objective search for truth and freedom, be it academic or otherwise.

On the other side, the precautions taken by the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society, who are sponsoring the controversial Dean of Canterbury, are also out of place. The limiting of the audience to friends of the Society, and the forcible ejection of the few dissenters who did manage to enter; these are certainly no more commendable actions than those of President Hall and the Alberta governing body. We do not expect much concern for the niceties of democratic behavior from the group which sponsors Dr. Johnson; their amity with undemocratic Russia suggests they have no great respect for democracy.

But one expects a different attitude from students and University officials who are supposedly vitally concerned with the preservation of our way of life. After all, our education does include at least a smattering of the principles of democracy. D.G.

Cowbells and Democracy

One test of democracy is the readiness to listen to all sides of a given case. Even if willingness is not present, there should at least be reluctant acquiescence to the presentation of a distasteful doctrine.

But there was no tolerance at all on the part of a group of students, in the case of Dr. Hewlett Johnson's address in London, Ontario. The Dean of Canterbury was known in advance to espouse views which are repugnant to the majority of Canadians. That was enough for a gang of students from the University of Western Ontario. These youngsters descended on the meeting with cowbells and exploding paper bags, and quite effectively broke up the gathering.

The reaction was natural, perhaps. To the students, no doubt, this was one of those excusable acts of ebullience, like tearing down the goalposts after a crucial football game. Yet their behavior was no whit different from that of groups of young hoodlums — also frequently university students — who are to be found demonstrating in various parts of the world against ideas not remotely connected with communism. The only difference is that in this case the Western University lads may have cooked up the idea themselves; whereas elsewhere the suppressors of free speech are frequently merely the tools of canny political organizations.

But whether the news reels show students in Cairo shouting against the British, or students in an Ontario city cowbelling a leftwing speaker into a back alley, the effect is much the same. There is the same intolerance of open discussion.

That is not to say that heckling at a public meeting is inconsistent with free speech. Many public men relish interruptions, because such challenges put them on their mettle. But heckling is one thing, and senseless din is quite another. After all, there are always some people at any meeting who have given up their time in order to listen critically to what a speaker has to say. The episode at London is hardly likely to add to the prestige of Western University. (Reprinted from the Ottawa Citizen.)

Petty Politics

Dear Sir:

During the past few days, many McGill students have expressed dissatisfaction over the way in which the present election campaign is being carried on. We feel that certain methods being used in the campaign are worthy of censure, and we also believe that the situation should be brought to the attention of the student body as a whole. At the outset, we wish to emphasize that our complaints are not directed at any persons or candidates in particular, but at the good sense of all the candidates and all students.

In particular, we wish to question, and to deplore, two aspects of the campaign — the use of the Students' Society meeting last Thursday as a campaign weapon, and the spreading of rumors and falsehoods about the candidates. A Students' Society meeting, for the conduct of regular business, should not be turned to political use, as many students felt it was on Thursday. Perhaps the meeting to discuss the New Union House Committee Constitution was poorly timed, when several of those closely connected with the new constitution were also candidates in the coming election. However, it must be admitted that the new constitution was necessary, and was the result of careful consideration on the part of the officers concerned. The fact that the constitution was before the meeting did not justify, we feel, the resulting show of petty politics over the method of election of the President and Vice-President of the McGill Union.

Many students have heard remarks passed which reflect on the integrity and sincerity of the candidates for Students' Society posts. These statements, like all rumors, are, we believe, without any evidence in fact, and reflect more on the character of those who pass them on than on the candidates at whom they are directed. Rumors and name-calling have no place in a student-election. The goals are not important enough to warrant bitter division and low tactics, and university elections should be models of propriety and behavior.

If we are to show our maturity as university students, our election campaigns should be conducted in such a way that the most capable candidates are encouraged to take part. However, if the lobbying and character assassination which we have seen this year continue, capable students will refuse to run for the main offices of the Students' Society. On Thursday, the campaign battle will be over; let us be sure that it leaves no permanent scars.

Pakistan Looks Ahead

A Review of the Six-Year Development Plan

by S. A. H. Ahsani

The six year development plan of Pakistan, estimated to cost over Rs. 2,600 million ($785,000,000), during the period July 1951 to June 1957, is the first concerted effort to develop and exploit the resources of the country, on a planned basis. This plan, which may at first sight appear to be incommensurate with the needed development of the economy, is, however, only the first phase of development to be followed by many more such efforts. The object of the plan is to raise the standard of living of the people, provide full employment and give equal opportunities to all.

Apart from the under-developed nature of the economy of the country, the planners had to keep in mind the colossal refugee problem, unique of its nature in the history of mankind, which Pakistan had to face just after the partition of the Indo-Pakistan sub-continent. The task of rehabilitating eight million refugees would have defied solution anywhere, but for the determination of the Pakistan Government and the unity of the people, it has almost been solved.

The six year plan of Pakistan has been integrated with the Colombo Plan which represents, perhaps, the first effort in history for international co-operation in the economic development of South and South East Asia — a region containing one-fourth of the world population. Pakistan has no doubt considerable potential resources, but they need proper exploitation. The immensity of the task can be gauged from the fact that Pakistan at the time of partition had not a single jute mill, although she produced 80 per cent of the world's jute. Similarly, it had cotton spindage to consume 0.1 million bales against the production of 1.2 million bales of cotton. The oil and mineral wealth is estimated to be considerable but has not been fully explored. The land, although very fertile, requires the application of modern techniques of agriculture.

After a careful consideration of all factors, the following allocation for various sections of the plan was decided: Agriculture, $247,000,000; transport and communication, $160,000,000; fuel and water, $142,000,000; industry and mining, $148,000,000; and social capital, $88,000,000.

AGRICULTURE

The economy of Pakistan is predominantly agrarian, 80 per cent of the population subsisting on farming. Agriculture, therefore, receives the first priority and 32 per cent of the total sum will be spent on its improvement. The main agricultural products of Pakistan are rice (8 million tons), wheat (4 million tons), grain and other cereals, jute (667 million bales of 400 lbs. each), cotton (1.2 million bales of 392 lbs. each), oilseeds (360,000 tons), sugar cane (1 million tons), tea (55 million lbs.), and tobacco.

At present two major agricultural projects are in hand in Punjab. The Thal colonization project, which has almost been completed, aims at settling 250,000 refugees on 900,000 acres out of 2 million acres to be reclaimed. Under this project, about 1000 villages will be built and 38,000 houses constructed. In addition to that, Lower Sind Barrage in Sind province and East Bengal Drainage and Navigation Scheme in East Pakistan are other projects which are underway. The plan also provides for 4,800 tube-wells to lower the water table in 2.3 million acres of water-logged land in West Pakistan. A considerable sum has been allocated in the plan for the mechanization of agriculture, introduction of improved varieties of seeds, fertilizers and crop planning. A fertilizer factory capable of producing 80,000 tons a year is proposed. Besides, provision has also been made for the development of fisheries and improvement of livestock.

When these agricultural schemes are completed, increases in the production of oil seeds by 220 per cent, sugar-cane by 70 per cent, vegetables by 68 per cent, fruits by 90 per cent, cotton by 27 per cent and jute by 10 per cent, are expected.

Transport and Communications
 In railways, an extensive rehabilitation programme is proposed. The existing steam engines will gradually be replaced by more efficient diesel electric engines, modern all-steel carriages will be introduced, and new wagons put on the track.

At the time of partition, Chittagong in East Pakistan, and Karachi in West Pakistan were the two ports. The handling capacity of Chittagong is being increased several times and a new port of Chalna is being developed in East Pakistan.

Highways being most important for internal communications, the scheme envisages construction of 9,000 miles of new roads. A considerable sum is proposed to be spent on expansion and modernization of tele-communication services in the country.

FUEL AND POWER

Pakistan has 5 to 6 million k.w. of hydro-electric power. The plan provides for the total generation of 256,000,000 k.w. As the full development of hydro-electric power will take time, thermal stations to generate 125,000 k.w. will be installed to cater for the industrial needs of the country.

The extension of Malakand in North West Frontier Province which has been recently completed, will supply an additional 10,000 k.w. The Rasul project in Punjab and the Dargai Project in N.W.F.P., which are designed to produce 22,000 k.w. and 15,000 k.w. respectively, are expected to be completed, in 1953. Preliminary work is also in progress on Warsak in N.W.F.P., Karnafull in East Pakistan and Miamwall in Punjab. These projects, when completed, are expected to produce 90,000 k.w., 40,000 k.w., and 100,000 k.w. respectively.

INDUSTRY AND MINING

The plan envisages the installation of 24 cotton mills of 25,000 spindles each. This will not only double the present consumption of cloth but save much needed foreign exchange. At the time of partition, not even one jute mill was in the country. Now two jute mills have already been established and the third is expected to go into production in 1953. Plans are also afoot for the installation of six more jute mills of 500 looms each. The establishment of one paper mill, with an annual production capacity of 30,000 tons, is nearly complete, and when it goes into production it will enable Pakistan to dispense with the need to import paper. Besides cotton, jute and paper, the establishment of phar-

"Gentleman in Room Six" a 9-minute British Eagle-Lion short admirably utilizing a single set, single voice and pantomime, builds up to a shock climax that provides the most dramatic moment in many an Avenue bill.—H.D.A.

SOCIAL CAPITAL

Although the work of social uplift comes under the purview of provincial government, provision has been made in the plan for $88,000,000 for various schemes of housing, water supply, medical care, education and technical training.

As is evident from the above, the planners have deliberately avoided the pitfall of high-sounding targets which prove un- (Continued on page 3)

Six Contest Students' Society and Union Positions

Student Society President

Mike Brodeur

Platform

In seeking election I shall do my best to see that the following points are implemented.

- 1) I believe that apathy toward student government is the result of a relative unawareness of the administration's functioning. This is due to the comparative inaccessibility of such important information as allocation of budgets, SEC minutes and determination of policy.
- 2) To remedy this I propose:
  - (a) Posting of SEC minutes in all faculty notice boards, so that every student, at any time, can be fully aware of what his government is doing.
  - (b) Advance notice of the SEC budget meeting so that all interested students can have their say beforehand, and the publishing of the completed budget afterwards for a further check.
  - (c) To use every means possible to see that the recommendations of the Massey Report are carried out to help prevent any further increase of fees.
  - (d) To try and keep book prices as low as possible and distribute profits at the end of the year to the student by a rebate plan.
  - (e) Greater recognition of the Women's Union.
  - (f) Full support of the New Union Committee.
  - (g) To reaffirm support of SCOP, N.F.C.U.S., ISS, and to encourage greater student participation in these activities.
  - (h) To see where the Forge can be published more often.
  - (i) To investigate the possibility of the odd cheerleaderette.

MIKE BRODEUR.

Pen Sketch

The rare combination of executive experience and ability, coupled with a true interest in student activities makes Mike Brodeur the ideal candidate for the presidency of the Students' Society.

Mike, a 23 year old medical student, has proved during his four undergraduate years that he is able to successfully combine high scholarship with championship intercollegiate sports and Student Executive activities.

For the past year, Mike has sat on the S.E.C. as Chairman of the Students' Athletic Council, a post which has provided him with a more than adequate comprehension of all phases of student government. We feel that this has given him a broad and objective insight into problems which affect many individual campus groups and opinions, an enviable position.

When considering the activities listed below, we must remember that the experience gained must be found in an individual who is personally able to maintain a friendly liaison between the student body, faculty members, graduates and other universities—Mike is such an individual.

Student Government
Chairman of the Students' Athletic Council;
Secretary of the Scarlet Key Society;
Students' Executive Council;
Athletics representative of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society;
Member of the Athletics Board and Intramural Athletics Council.
Athletics
Captain of the Intercollegiate Championship squash team—1950-51.
Intramural floor hockey.
Other Activities
Arts and Science Debating;
Commissioned Officer R.C.A.F.;
Combined Charities;
International Relations Club;
Athletics Night Committee;
McGill representative to Laval Centenary.

Thus we offer you a student who has proved himself executive, athletic, and academically; and who also possesses an added quality which is always extremely valuable in Student Administration—an excellent sense of humour.

achievable in the end. Emphasis has, therefore, been placed on basic development of the country. After the plan comes to a successful conclusion, a net increase in the foreign earnings of $250,000,000 per year is estimated and the standard of living of the people is expected to rise by 30 per cent. The country, by then, would have achieved a large measure of advancement in the matter of basic development, self-sufficiency in food and cloth, ample electric power, rehabilitation of railways, well knit telecommunication services, establishment of a number of jute mills and paper mills, proper survey of geological resources, and more and better equipped schools and hospitals. When these targets are achieved, Pakistan, it is hoped, will come nearer to the ideal of a welfare state.

Union President

Ian Bruce

Platform

Before outlining my intended program, I should like to point out that the President of the Union has two main functions: 1. the administration of the Union; 2. to conduct a policy which encourages a wide student representation at the Union; and to act as the assistant to the President of the S.E.C. and to handle the internal affairs of the University through the S.E.C.

Should I be elected to this position I am determined to see the following points realized.

Administration

- (a) An immediate reorganization of the Dates Committee with the aim of giving more attention to this bureau in order to avoid any further conflict in dates of major campus events such as occurred this year, e.g. Unifunk, presented by SCOP, Players' Club production, Harvard debate and the Archuleta party, all of which took place on the same night. In the future all functions will first have to be endorsed by the Dates Committee.
- (b) No further immediate major expenditures. Such finances must be put towards the New Union, which is now more than a mere fantasy. It should be realized within four years. Most important, however, is an immediate clean-up of the entire building with measures taken to ensure a more respectable looking Union in the future. The standard of cleanliness has waned considerably in this building.
- (c) Having served on the food committee of Douglas Hall and hence, had some familiarity with the food problem, I shall take steps to see how the meals may be improved without unnecessary extra expenditure.

External Policies

- (a) More active co-operation with the McGill Graduate Society to interest them in the McGill student body and their needs. This might be accomplished by graduate functions at SCOP.
- (b) Revitalization and encouragement of a varied program supported by SCOP.
- (c) Allowing N.F.C.U.S. another year to justify our participation, and at the end of that time, to aid in the setting up of a Used Book Exchange.
- (d) Giving every support to the program for implementation of the Massey Commission recommendations.
- (e) Support and encourage the McGill Open House.

Basically this platform is directed to attracting as great a degree of student participation as possible and to giving every student an opportunity to make use of the facilities offered by the Students' Society.

Pen Sketch

We, the undersigned, firmly believe that Jim Robb is the outstanding choice for the presidency of the Students' Society.

As president of the Union (and hence a member of the S.E.C.) this year, and as managing editor of The Daily two years ago, Jim has acquired keen insight into the structure and needs of the Students' Society, the Students' Executive Council, the undergraduate societies and all major campus activities.

Jim's record, during four years in arts and two in law, speaks for his maturity of judgment, his unassuming yet forceful initiative, and his broad knowledge of campus life. He has demonstrated, too, the essential qualities of a sense of humor and facility for working easily with students.

Beyond managing the affairs of the Union, Jim made two contributions this year which, to our knowledge, no Union president has ever done before. The first was establishment of an effective committee for the investigation of university specific proposals for a new Union building, about which there has been a great deal of talk but no action for years.

Secondly, Jim served this year as external Affairs chairman of the S.E.C. which involved supervision of all relations with students' societies at other universities and the important work of WUCS and N.F.C.U.S. In this capacity he was a delegate to the national conferences of both organizations last fall.

In athletics, Jim has been assistant sports editor of The Daily, a member of the Intramural Athletics and Recreational Council, as well as a participant in intramural sports for six years.

Four years in the University Reserve Squadron of the R.C.A.F. have also served to bring him into contact with other students from across Canada. He has also been business manager of Forge, president of his first year law class, and a member of the Tri Service Bar Committee and the Film Unit. Of paramount importance is the President's duty to represent McGill students before the University administration, other Universities and the general public, and that Jim would fill this role with distinction is indicated by his performance as external affairs chairman.

In fact, it is difficult to imagine how any student's candidacy for this position could be more well founded than Jim Robb's.

Women's Union President

Joyce Iverson

Platform

I should like to thank those who nominated me for the President of the Women's Union. The most important point in my platform is that if elected I shall work hard and to the best of my ability.

Since the women of McGill are represented on the S.E.C. by the Vice-President of the Women's Union, I feel that it is the job of the President to represent student interest as a whole.

- 1) The open house is a plan that I support wholeheartedly. It is the type of project in which the whole student body can participate and from which they can benefit.
- 2) A new union is obviously a necessity. I support it on the basis that it can become the centre of student activity with more adequate facilities for all.
- 3) Freshmen Reception. I feel that the fullest advantages have not been taken of the Freshman Reception. It should be more fully developed to achieve a closer integration between the activities and experience of the Freshman and Upperclassmen.
- 4) I would encourage a more extensive Cultural Program, sponsored jointly with the alumnae society, to include guest speakers and performers and to take place in R.V.C. which is easily available to all Women Students.

The activities of the Women's Union should be more widely publicized so that all students could know of and benefit from them. The new student and resident women of McGill should be consolidated into an effective group whose opinion would be respected and whose activities would be more widely recognized.

Joyce Iverson.

Pen Sketch

We are supporting Joyce Iverson for the position of President of the Women's Union because we feel that she is exceptionally well qualified for the job.

The President of the Women's Union must be well acquainted with all phases of student activity at McGill. Joyce has taken part in a varied and active programme. She has given proof of her ability as an executive, and of her talent for hard work. Above all she has proved that she can meet people easily and speak well before them, both necessary attributes in an office such as this.

Joyce Iverson's record needs no elaboration beyond the facts.

Elections Held In Universities Across Canada

(CUP)—Universities across Canada are holding elections for their student society leaders.

The University of Manitoba elected an Agriculture student as president of their Student's Union for the first time since the creation of the post in 1919.

Seventy-one per cent of the Manitoba students turned out to the polls. The three-cornered election fight saw Dick Bocking elected by a narrow margin. He led by only seven votes at the end of the first count, but under Manitoba's transferrable vote system the second choices listed on the ballots for the candidate running third were redistributed among the other two, to increase Bocking's lead.

The single transferrable ballot was also used in the University of British Columbia elections, for the presidency of their Alma Mater Society. The editor-in-chief of the Ubysey was defeated in the final count by 147 votes. Almost 50% of the U.B.C. students voted. Five candidates were running.

In the elections at Western, a near-record turnout of over 76% elected twelve students to executive posts.

Comparable figures for McGill are a 58% turnout for the elections held a year ago in March, and only 45% for the December elections this year.

Don't Read This!

Don't read this! There is no use it will get you nowhere. Nothing at all is said here that will add to your knowledge or information. But why are you still reading? Don't you believe what you read? Don't you think there will be some hidden remark in these lines that will either shock you or amuse you in some way or other?

The second paragraph is started and you are still with me. Curiosity is what I say. Just goes to prove to you that though nothing really interesting is being written in this little column, you still insist on reading it.

Polling Booths

Polling Booths will be set up all over the campus to allow students an opportunity to vote.

Women will vote in the Women's Common Room in the Arts Building.

For men, booths will be set up in the various faculty buildings. Arts and Science will vote in the Arts Building, Commerce in the Arts Common Room, Engineering in the Engineering Common Room, Architecture in the Architecture Building, Medicine in the Medical Building, Dentistry in the Medical Building or the Dental Clinic, Law in Day Hall, Divinity in the Divinity Hall Common Room, Music in the Music Building, and Physical Education in the Gymnasium.

Women's Union Secretary

Alison Knox

Platform

I believe that it is a great shame that the Women's Union functions and activities are unknown to a large portion of McGill women, and I should like to see the following steps taken to bring more women into contact with their Union.

- 1) Several teas might be held during the year at which the women students could meet and talk informally with their executive.
- 2) Better publicity for Women's Union activities is needed. At present, the Women's Editor takes care of articles in the Daily, and each separate committee arranges its own publicity. These functions could be centralized in a Member-at-Large appointed in charge of publicity to work with the Women's Editor and to head a committee which could make posters and arrange publicity for all Women's Union speakers, fashion shows, Career Clinics, etc.
- 3) The Women's Union should be in charge of Combined Charities since it is the women who do most of the canvassing, and since the success of the Dutch Flood Relief Fund showed what the Women's Union can do.

If elected to the post of Secretary of the Women's Union, I shall endeavor to implement this platform and represent the women of McGill to the best of my ability.

Alison Knox.

Pen Sketch

As a result of varied experience in extra-curricular activities both at school and university, Alison Knox is well-qualified for the post of Secretary of the Women's Union.

At school in New York, Alison was active in the Dramatic Society, editor of the newspaper, and managed the student revue. In her first year at McGill, she was elected to the post of Member-at-Large to the Women's Executive Council. Since Pauline has been a member at large of the Women's Union for the past year and has devoted herself conscientiously to the job, we the undersigned believe that she is well qualified for the position.

Pauline came to McGill from Haverhill and is now in third year. Always quick to adapt herself, she has taken part in various activities including member at large of the Women's Union, Secretary of the Red Wing Society, and being an active member of the Annual Sales Staff. Pauline also has taken part in the McGill Water Show for the past two years and has been a member of the hockey team as well as being keenly interested in basketball, squash and skiing.

Those of us who have worked with Pauline and who have known her during the past two years know of her dependability as well as her friendliness and enthusiasm. We feel that she has achieved a balance in her college life which is an important asset to a girl representing the women of McGill.

It is for these reasons together with her leadership qualities that we are recommending Pauline for the position of President of the Women's Union.

Voting Power

In an interview with one of the members of the Students' Executive Council, the upcoming elections were mentioned. "I wish to make it quite clear that I am not, in any way, endorsing any candidate, I want to publicly urge every single student who can vote to come on Wednesday and with his mark on the ballot make his opinion felt. Members on the Council work hard for the interests of students, and it is only befitting that they should be the true representatives of the students. It is the basis of our system, and no student can really have the audacity to say that he does not care one way or other. For students not informed sufficiently, election rallies are organized so they can hear the candidates speak and make some sort of decision as to who should be voted for. And if the rally cannot be attended to, the platforms and pen-sketches appearing in The Daily, should give any student some indication as to whom to vote for. "Everybody should vote!"

PLACEMENT SERVICE

Students in final year courses who desire the assistance of the Placement Service in securing permanent employment should register as soon as possible if they have not already done so. Interviewing hours are from 2:00 p.m.-4:30 p.m. each afternoon.

Debating Union

The Debating Union will hold its elections today at 1 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, at an open meeting.

Eric De Bellaigue, President of the Debating Union, said that every member of the Students' Society is a member of the Debating Union and is entitled to a vote in the elections.

Before the actual elections begin, each candidate for a position will have to give a short speech. Presidential candidates' speeches will be five minutes long. All others will be three minutes each.

For the position of President, two men have been nominated. They are: Douglas Cohen, Law 2, and Nicolas Vlahos, Law 2.

Students will decide between Louis Hollander, Eng. 2, and Leonard Cohen, Comm. 2, for the position of Men's Vice-President, while Yoine Goldstein, Arts 2, and Joseph

Mary Szwarc

Platform

Since the Students' Executive Council, official student government for both men and women, is headed by a man and composed primarily and regrettably of men, women students of McGill must, of necessity, look to the Women's Union for acknowledgment of their prerogatives and preservation of their rights.

To maintain campus interest in the Women's Union, to institute more and better facilities for women, to continue those activities exclusive to women, to secure wider publicity for women's organizations, and to fight constitutional terms which bar top executive positions from women, this will be my aim, my duty, and my trust throughout the term of office.

I sincerely thank those who nominated me for Secretary of the Women's Union and pledge myself wholeheartedly to fulfill the requirements of the position.

Mary Szwarc.

Pen Sketch

The qualifications required for a position such as Secretary of the Women's Union are chiefly: two years' experience and inherent ability. We, the undersigned, feel that Mary Szwarc possesses to an outstanding degree these qualifications and that consequently she is exceedingly capable of fulfilling the responsibilities this position entails.

Proof of Mary's varied experience is her travels throughout the world and her fluency in three languages. In 1950 she came second in a Quebec Federation Oration Contest and the next year won the McGill Alumnae Cup for public speaking. As a Red Wing Mary has taken part in a great number of campus events, as a Senior Staff Writer for the Daily she has become intimately acquainted with a variety of student organizations.

This year Mary is on The Annual Sales Staff and on the Executive of the Red and White Committee in which capacity, last fall, she took charge of Freshman Registration. She is Recording Secretary of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society for which she helped to organize the Sadie Hawkins and the New Year's Eve Dances.

The major scholarships Mary holds are adequate evidence of her inherent ability. In 1951 she was second in the province in the Quebec High School Leaving Examination. Mary Red and White University Scholarship. At present, she holds the University Scholarship, which has been renewed, the Georgina Hunter Alumnae Scholarship, and the Margaret Jane Allan Scholarship awarded to the woman student standing highest in the sessional examinations of the First Year.

The positions she has held and the awards she has won have been well merited and we are confident that they justify our endorsement of Mary Szwarc as Secretary of the Women's Union.

The Debating Union Society, of which Dr. F. Cyril James is the Honorary President, is one of the well-known societies of McGill. A.S.U.S. President

Sam Clark
Platform

If I am elected, I shall strive to shoulder the responsibilities and carry out efficiently the duties which fall to the position of the President of the Arts & Science Undergraduate Society. Moreover, I shall make it my special endeavour to examine and carry out the following points which seem to me to require attention.

1. To examine the Executive of the Society. Here, I feel, there is a certain apathy at present, which tends to have a disorganising influence on the Society as a whole. I would also investigate the A.S.U.S. awards system, with a view to greater economy in this field. In my opinion the appropriation received from the S.E.C. could be far more usefully disbursed than it is at present.

2. More organization and better representation in recreational activities. The inter-faculty athletic teams of Arts & Science are not as successful as they could and should be, and I feel that with more organization we could field teams in all sports to leave the Engineers well in the cold. I would also try to arrange more A.S. dances which would be a great help in knitting the Artsmen more closely together and aid generally to raise the lacking spirit on the Campus.

3. To improve the Common Rooms in the faculty. The present condition of these rooms is deplorable: I would initiate a program of renovation, concentrating on the furnishings and decorations.

4. The institution of Gen. Nights. The bond between students and members of the faculty is one which does not receive enough attention. It is also one of great use to both, and an excellent method of ensuring its preservation is through the medium of Gen. Nights.

5. To raise the attendance, and thus the calibre, of A.S.U.S. debates. A proficiency in debating is one of the most useful acquisitions for post-college life, and I would endeavor to increase the participation in them by popularization.

On offering myself for your consideration for the position of President, I assure you that I will always give a fair representation of all the students in the Faculty of Arts & Science.

Lou Schiff
Platform

Every year, platforms are opened with "I'm elected, I promise, but rather what I will try to do."

It is a known fact that better facilities are necessary in the common room of the Arts Building, and I would like to see this come about this year. The various campus organizations sponsored by ASUS if aided financially could progress further and be of more enjoyment and have more students participate in their activities. I will try to get this financial aid. I would also like to see more co-ordinated inter-faculty sports and informal social affairs.

These are not promises but suggestions I would like to see carried out. In any case, cast your vote, and exercise your franchise, and may the best man win!

Lou Schiff.

Pen Sketch

Lou Schiff came to McGill in 1950 from Baron Byng High School and is presently in his third year of science, majoring in Biochem.

During his career at McGill he became active on the campus in many activities. In 1950 he was secretary-treasurer of the Chess Checker Club, and has been president for the last two years. In this capacity he organized many trips and tournaments which proved very successful.

We the undersigned think Lou would be a capable president having executive ability and organizing drive and would like to see him as president of A.S.U.S.

OSLER LIBRARY

On the third floor of the Medical building, the Osler Library contains 10,000 volumes of the history of medicine, and science. Only about 2,000 volumes (the more recent titles) may be borrowed from the library. Included in the reference works are the collections of Sir William Osler.

Don Stirling
Platform

In the past few days, my fellow students have often asked me why I was running for the A.S.U.S. in the forthcoming election. To run for such an important position one must have his reasons, and I have mine.

In two and one half years of activity on this campus, I have constantly heard of the lack of spirit in Arts and Science. This is definitely wrong. Arts and Science has more spirit than any other faculty on this campus. If I am elected I will prove that statement by channeling this spirit in the proper directions. I want my faculty to prove itself as the best spirited group at McGill.

Many improvements have been made in our intramural set-up. Arts and Science is now placing more and more teams in intramural athletics. But our intramural athletes who fight for our faculty are not given enough recognition for their efforts. I have certain plans which will give credit to these members of our faculty.

I for one would like to know my professors better than I do at present. Arts and Science could do with, and will have, if I am elected, more professor-student social functions to enable us to accomplish this end.

I will be open at all times to any suggested wants, changes and improvements in our faculty.

I am not going to make any rash promises in this platform, but I want everyone to understand that I am running for this position because I feel that Arts and Science needs certain improvements, and as president of the A.S.U.S., I would be best able to bring these changes about.

D. V. Stirling.

Pen Sketch

Don Stirling came to McGill from Westmount High School in 1950.

For the past two and one half years, Don has been extremely active in two major intercollegiate sports — football and boxing. In his second year in McGill, Don was elected to the Scarlet Key Society where he has conscientiously carried out his duties, and has been recently made an advisor to the Society.

We feel that his characteristic drive which has been so well displayed thus far in these endeavors will be continued as president of A.S.U.S.

As a result of his activities on the campus and on the Athletic field, Don has been exposed to certain shortcomings of his faculty and he now feels that certain changes and improvements are necessary.

In nominating Don, we feel that

Platform

If elected President of the Engineering Undergraduate Society, I will advocate a policy of closer student-professor relationship. I will do my best to see that the Engineering student is well represented in all matters in which he cannot speak for himself.

I will re-organize the committee responsible for the printing and distribution of mimeographed notes so that all years will benefit equally.

I will do my best to re-establish a second hand book exchange similar to the one which operated very successfully at Dawson College.

I will provide more organized smokers with the appropriate entertainment and refreshment.

I will see that several student-professor get-togethers are held throughout the year with the aim of a better student-professor understanding.

If elected I will do my best to organize the E.U.S. so that it may truly be called the voice of the undergraduate engineer at McGill.

Harvey S. W. Goodwin, nominee for the position of President of the Engineering Undergraduate Society, was born in Montreal, and after attending Westmount High School, where he was very active in sports, he came to the University through Dawson College.

At Dawson, Harvey was a member of the Intercollegiate Ski Team and a member of the Camera Club. Since coming to McGill in 1950, Harvey has taken an active interest in student engineering affairs. He was elected to the Scarlet Key Society last December, and is senior representative to the Engineering Institute of Canada; he also represents his class on the Curriculum Committee.

Recognizing Harvey's ability to carry out with energy and determination any task to which he is set, we the undersigned heartily endorse his name for the presidency of the Engineering Undergraduate Society, from which he possesses all the qualifications for the position.

Platform

When I ran for Secretary of the Engineering Undergraduate Society last year, I said in so many words that any man who makes election promises is a fool of no mean stature. I still maintain the truth of that statement. However, after two years on the E.U.S. Executive, I have some firm ideas on what should be done by the E.U.S. to improve the lot of the Engineer.

In brief, I believe that the policies of the E.U.S. should be directed towards:

a) Improvement of House facilities. The common room is woefully inadequate and efforts to have a second Common Room or Lounge established should be continued. Library conditions must be improved and the present locker facilities repaired and expanded.

b) Expansion of student activities, particularly among the lower years. Membership in the departmental clubs should be encouraged in year 2 and 3M.

c) Securing of closer relations between the students and the Staff. Functions like Gen-Nite and Meet the Staff Night must be encouraged.

d) Maintaining the present sound financial condition of the E.U.S. I would like the opportunity to carry out these aims and if given it, I promise to give the job the best of my efforts — that is the one and only election promise that I will make.

Stan McGurk.

Stan McGurk is well-known around the Engineering Building and needs little introduction. He has been associated with the Engineering Undergraduate Society for several years and has always shown himself to be keenly interested in the welfare of his fellow Engineers.

Entering second year McGill in 1950, after being very active in student government and athletics in high school, Stan soon became involved in E.U.S. work. This year he has held the post of Secretary of the E.U.S. and the year before that was Co-Manager of Publicity. For a year and a half, ending this past Christmas, he has also been the author under the alias of "Mack," of the infamous publication, the Plumbers' Pot!

The M.W.S.A.A. is designed to encourage and to integrate athletic and recreational activities for women students. In accomplishing this, it should serve both those people interested in competitive sports, and those concerned with spontaneous recreation.

To properly fulfill this function, I advocate support of the present system of inter-faculty, intercity and intercollegiate activities; and the providing of facilities for students interested in occasional athletic exertion. This latter plan could be accomplished if the M.W.S.A.A. supplied the R.V.C. gym with basketballs, volleyballs, badminton birds etc. which girls could use for spontaneous games or for practicing when the gym was free. These students who could not commit themselves to a definite athletics schedule could, nevertheless, enjoy their recreational facilities at their leisure.

Investigation and, where possible, implementation of the following proposals would, I believe, greatly benefit women's athletics:

1) DIRECT representation of the M.W.S.A.A. on the S.E.C. rather than the present indirect representation through the S.A.C.

2) Increased publicity of women's athletic activities.

3) Increased participation on "Athletics Nights" by women's teams.

4) Investigation of the M.W.S.A.A. organization to determine if more responsibility should be undertaken by the student members.

Barbara Dubrule, Commerce 3, entered McGill in 1950 from Prescott High School where she had participated in four years of Basketball and in the Girls' Drum and Trumpet Band. She was also Editor of the school paper and, during her final year, was President of the Students' Council.

At McGill, Barb has played Inter-faculty and Intramural Basketball and Intramural Hockey. Last year she was Commerce Representative to the Intramural Sports Committee, and was also Secretary of that group. She is now Clubs and Societies Editor of Old McGill '53 as well as Secretary of the M.W.S.A.A. Because of her previous executive experience with, and her active interest in, the women's athletics

My position on the M.W.S.A.A. has impressed me with the necessity of promoting this organization and women's athletics as a whole at McGill. Few women realize or take advantage of the various well organized and well equipped sport clubs. I believe increased participation and interest can be fostered in several ways.

Publicity is always important, not only through the Daily and posters, but by added contact of the council with the student body. In this regard I feel the Freshman Preview is very important and should be better organized and publicized. The intra-mural sports council could be of great help in stirring up participation, and should be encouraged to expand its program and work more closely with the M.W.S.A.A.

Representation is to me the most important project at the present time. If the members of the council worked on Athletics Nights and the Carnival Committee, women's athletics could play an important role in these events. The clubs are eager to compete if the opportunity and encouragement were given. As a representative of the Students' Athletics Council, I would endeavor to create added recognition of the organization as well as the individual sports interests.

Having worked with the Women's Union as well, I am extremely interested in furthering the women's contribution to McGill as well as increasing the benefits that can be derived from our organization.

The purpose of the M.W.S.A.A. is to promote and increase interest in the various sports available to Women Students at McGill. Increased publicity, to bring to closer attention the numerous sports available to the students, is one way of accomplishing this end. This, I feel, can be done through a special M.W.S.A.A. column in the Daily, by greater coverage of all Women's Sports, not only in the Daily but in leading Montreal newspapers, and by notices in the various buildings informing the students of the activities of each club.

Co-operation with the Women's Union and the Intramural Council is essential to smooth functioning within these three major Women's organizations for the greater advantage of the students.

It would be to the advantage of the Women students to have a M.W.S.A.A. representative on the Winter Carnival and the Athletics Night Committees to promote their participation in these events.

If elected, I will endeavor to fulfill my duties to the best of my abilities.

Bente Jepsen.

In backing Bente for President of the M.W.S.A.A., we feel she could more than adequately fulfill the duties of so important an office as this highest student position in Women's Sports at McGill.

Her interest in extra-curricular activities began in St. Laurent High School. She was Captain of the Basketball, Volleyball and Badminton teams and was also Senior Champion of the Track team. She became familiar with Executive duties at this time by holding positions on the Student's Council and Red Cross Council, thus as well as participating in extra-curricular activities she was also familiar with the executive duties involved.

At McGill she has continued her interest in sports and is familiar with the activities of the M.W.S.A.A. and Intramural Councils; last year holding the position of Intramural Representative and this year Manager of the Rifle Club.

We feel Bente would also make a good president because of her academic standing, she held scholarships in High School and has continued to hold them for her three years at McGill, and her past

During my three years at McGill, I have noticed a substantial improvement in the academic standards and the "spirit" of the School of Commerce. However, the one main function it is still lacking academically, is a practical, rather than a theoretical view of business life. Also, there is still room for improvement for Commerce's "esprit de corps". In short, I intend to contribute a number of policies which will help the growth of Commerce from a "school" to a "faculty". These include:

(1) Due to the immense popularity of the tours, they will be increased so that every Commerce-man will have the opportunity of seeing in operation the key industries, banks, and investment houses of the Montreal area. This would make your commerce education at McGill include a view of its more practical applications.

(2) There will be a number of "talks" by prominent business men. The talks will be designed to help us decide which field of business we wish to choose upon graduation, as well as a discussion on current business topics.

(3) The Commerce Athletics programme will be extended to encourage more participation.

(4) The Commerce Banquet-Smoker will be extended to include all Commerce students.

(5) Steps will be taken to see if it is possible to hold a Commerce Ball.

(6) The Commerce News column in the Daily will be extended.

My interest in running for this position stems from some observations I have made as a Commerce undergraduate.

The first of these is that most Commerce students have not had sufficient opportunity to obtain information concerning the industrial structure with which they must one day be associated. In my opinion, the Commerce Undergraduate Society could do a great deal to relieve this situation. As president I would endeavor to institute a series of informal talks by men capable of discussing the various aspects of industrial organization. These talks would serve to familiarize undergraduates with the different fields of industry, and to help them decide which they wish to enter. Furthermore, a greater interest might be aroused among the students towards their courses by seeing the practical application of what they are studying. Talks of this type could also facilitate students' graduation into industry, and provide them with useful business contacts.

Secondly, there is a relative lack of group spirit in the School of Commerce. I feel that one way of solving this problem would be to offer increased publicity to Commerce participation in inter-faculty competition. I would promote any measures which would encourage a greater pride in the School of Commerce.

Finally, I believe that the ability of the C.U.S. to fulfill its purpose depends upon the undergraduates themselves. Therefore, I would encourage any suggestions or criticisms which the students may have to offer.

Great Toronto Team Takes Tank Trophy

Only one word can describe the University of Toronto's crack swimming squad's performance in the CIAU championships at last Saturday evening's Athletics Night—stupendous.

With the most potent aggregation of swimmers in their title-studded history, and perhaps one of the greatest collegiate swimming teams of all time, the Blues, defending champs, completely overwhelmed their thoroughly-outclassed opposition of McGill and Western, garnering 60 markers in all. Lost in a maze of Varsity victories, the locals followed leagues behind with a second place effort of 19 points to edge the Mustangs who mustered 17 points.

There was no doubt that the show was all Toronto's. Led by remarkable contributions by George Stulac, Hart Devenney, Bibi Stipetic, Bill McIlroy and John Bate, the Blues swept eight events. Rated as one of the finest competitors in college swimming history, Devenney emerged the pick of his crew by coping two contests, the 220 and 440 freestyle fixtures, in brilliant style. In the 440, he streaked to supremacy in the fast time of 4:58.0 to smash the CIAU and McGill Pool records. The 220 produced another record-eclipsing Devenney showing. Flashing the distance in the even more spectacular time of 2:14.7, he nullified previous Intercollegiate and CCSA marks, both by at least five seconds.

By LEWIS BATSHAW

Bibi Stipetic, who can't be classified as any slow-moving object either, broke three marks in speeding to victory in the 150 yard individual medley in 1:40.8. Stipetic, an Olympic finalist in 1948, broke the records of the CCSA, the New Memorial Pool, and the CIAU.

The Mustangs were sparked by superior efforts by Bob Eason and Dick Curtis in the freestyle and diving encounters respectively.

Eason noted out McGill's perennial nemesis, Varsity's Stulac by a hairbreadth in the 100 freestyle, the evening's most thrilling offering.

Curtis came up with a phenomenally consistent performance of cleanly executed dives to win going away.

The Redmen's weakness was clearly indicated by the fact that his crew by coping two contests, the 220 and 440 freestyle fixtures, in brilliant style. In the 440, he streaked to supremacy in the fast time of 4:58.0 to smash the CIAU and McGill Pool records.

Jackie Novick, who has been placing well all year, came through with the McGillians' best showing. In the medley, he emerged from nowhere in the later stages, and his wonderful recovery on the crawl leg was sufficient to guarantee him third spot. Again, in his usual fashion, Novick put on a tremendous spurt in the backstroke to gain him second placing, nosing out Toronto's Bernie Langer.

Irwin Kopin, the flying seahorse, found his wings a trifle weighty, but nevertheless steamed in closely behind the Blue's Bate in the breaststroke. Diminutive Robbie Cook was something at a loss amidst such topnotch competition, but did contribute a noteworthy performance by coming third in the 220. Previous to his finish, Devenney and Eason had been staging a close battle ahead of Cook. George Cox swam in what was probably his best manner this season by taking third spot in the 50 freestyle and splashing very well in the final relay.

Coach Ashton attempted the same move as he did against LaSalle some time ago by pulling Cook out of his specialty, the 440, and saving him for the relay. This proved sound tactics, as Nick Rumin, substituting for Cook, third spot in the 440, although more than two lengths behind Devenney, the winner. Moreover, Cook rendered valuable assistance in the relay. Actually, it was Novick's leg that enabled the home club to overtake Western and assure McGill second place in the standings.

The Red trio of Rosenberg, Kopin and Drummond outdistanced Western in the 300 yard Medley Relay, but were unable to cope with a powerhouse representation of Blues. This marks the squad's last appearance of 1952-53. In general this season cannot be considered as one of the more successful ones in McGill swimming annals, as the Mer-men emerged victorious in only one of eight meets. It was rather a year of rebuilding and investment in future success. For the time being, one has to be content with the Brooklyn Eagle's cry of "Wait till next year."

Gymnastic Title Won by King of McGill

The Eastern Canadian Gymnastic Championship staged Saturday at the Currie Gym saw a furious see-saw battle contested hotly every foot of the way.

Of the five top men who placed in the meet, any one of them could have won. In the final outcome Jack King of McGill snared top honours for the all-around individual championship. Two first-rate contenders, Danish Olympic star Arne Petersen and Intercollegiate Champion Frank Grmek, unfortunately did not compete.

The team championship was captured for the second straight season by the Montreal YMCA squad of Gordon and Len Mather, Ernie Eggmann, and Marcel Beauchamp.

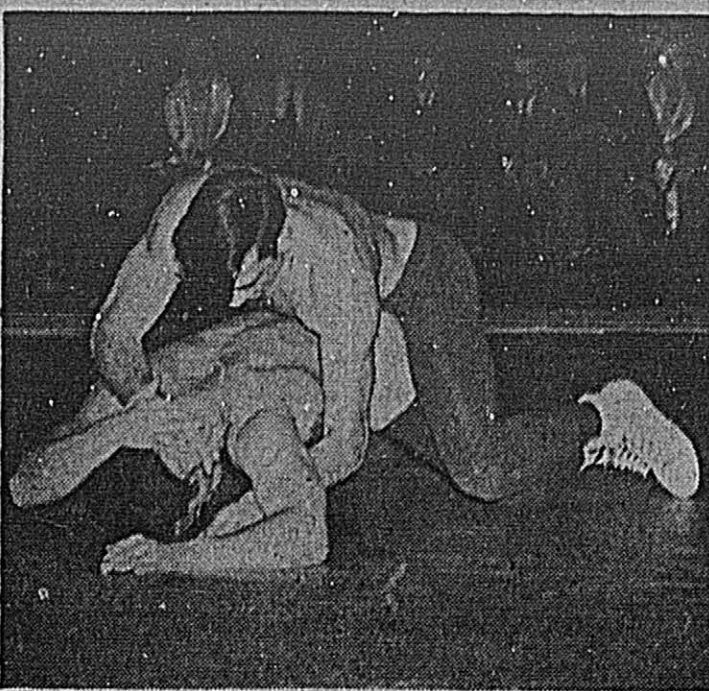

In the High Bar event Eggman came first with a 250 point score, while King was second with 222. Phippen, a star Junior performer from Trinity College School, took the Parallel Bars with a 235 score, while Gordon Mather was next with 225. The third event was optional with Ring or Pommel Horse. G. Mather scored 233 to come first while Beauchamp made 222 to take second place. The last event—also optional—free-hand calisthenics or tumbling, saw Marshall score 237 for first, while King totalled 218 for second.

Final total scores for the first four of the fifteen competitors are as follows: 1) J. King, McGill, 848; 2) E. Eggman, Montreal YMCA, 841; 3) P. Phippen, TCS, 837; 4) K. Marshall, McGill, 834.

Chapter to Be Installed Friday

The McGill Colony of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity will be installed as Iota Iota Zeta Chapter of this fraternity on the weekend of March 6, 7, 8.

A great fraternity festivity has been planned for the weekend, said a member of the fraternity. A reception for American and Canadian Guests and officials will be held at the Fraternity House on Friday, March 6 at 5 p.m. Saturday will include a luncheon, a formal banquet, and a formal ball in the International Civil Aviation Organization Building. Women's fraternities on the campus are arranging dates for the visitors.

ANYBODY GOT A COMB? With his hair flapping wildly over his face, McGill's Don Menard (top) grunts and groans in his efforts to pin Queen's Fred Wood. Menard placed third in the final listings of the 167-lb. class, as Western took their second straight Intercollegiate at championship. John Lillie, 123 lbs., and Hal Blewald, 177 lbs., were the only two Redmen to win titles as McGill finished fourth in the listings. (Daily Photo by Valentine)

Varsity Co-eds Edge McGill For Basketball Bronze Baby

By IRMA MOSCOVITZ

Toronto Feb. 28—For the second year in a row McGill co-eds narrowly missed capturing the Brown Baby, emblematic of co-ed basketball supremacy. The trophy was captured by a squad from Varsity for the fourth time out of five.

The McGill squad was comprised of a strong array of talent. Forwards were Ruth Rice McGurk, manager of the club this year, Ruth Weisman, Chuckie Christenson and Rex Moore, all members of last year's squad, with Anne Turnbull and Joan Johnson, making their debut with the team. Playing guard were veterans Lyn Rutherford, and Joan Allen, and newcomers Eve Wright, Janet Garson, Mary Davis, and Nan Cross.

In their opening game on Friday, McGill played Queen's, defeating them 43-40. Queens are well-known for the strength of their intercollegiate squads, and this team was no exception. The game was a very closely-played, tightly-checked one, with both teams fighting hard, with many observers saying that it was one of the best co-ed basketball games seen in Toronto for a long time.

In the second game on Friday, Toronto and Ontario Agricultural College met each other. Toronto, dominating the play throughout the entire game, defeated O.A.C. by a very high score.

On Saturday afternoon were scheduled the games between the two winners, and the losers. Queens handily defeated O.A.C. in their contest, to take third place in the meet.

The next game of the afternoon, between Toronto and McGill was a heartbreaker. The score kept fluctuating from one team to the other right up to the closing minutes of the game, with Toronto finally edging their rivals 42-32. The Blue and White squad held the advantage in that they were playing in their home town, and had played a very easy game the night before; the McGill team, on the other hand, were more tired, due to their tight contest with Queens.

Ruth Rice McGurk, one of the top players in the intercollegiate all year, was high scorer of the meet, with 24 points. Ruth Weisman, who captained the team, also showed her usual excellent form.

Last year the trophy was taken by the home team, Queens, with the same situation occurring this season. Next year the tournament will be played in Montreal, and it hoped that the Red and White squad will continue the trend, and capture the Bronze Baby.

Western Wrestlers Win Intercollegiate Crown

By HARRY MOSS

It was another championship for the University of Western Mustangs on Athletics Night IV as the Purple and White recaptured the Senior Intercollegiate Wrestling Championship for the second straight year. All the bouts were fast and furious as the top Canadian College wrestlers fought it out for nine championships.

The meet lasted two days with the preliminaries taking place on Friday afternoon. Friday evening saw the semi-finals and the consolation bouts were held on Saturday afternoon. The finals were held on Saturday evening, at the Athletics Night.

The University of Toronto Varsity placed second in the meet with the Ontario Agricultural College Aggies taking third position. The McGill Redmen finished in fourth position and the Queens' Golden Gaels ended up last. Western amassed a total of 40 points and they were followed by Toronto with 31 points OAC gained 28 and they were followed closely by McGill with 26. Queens score totaled 13 points.

Western had four champions in the meet, the Redmen had two, OAC had two, and Toronto had one. John Lillie and Hal Blewald were the McGill champions in the 123 and the 177 pounds classes respectively.

In the 123 pound class, John Lillie of McGill met Fred Wood of Toronto in the finals, with Lillie coming through on top in a very close match to capture the championship. The pride and joy of the McGill Wrestling team, Tak Fugimargi, lost a close decision by one point in the 130 pound class to I. Yveeden of OAC. Glynn Leyshon of the Mustangs defeated Tom Hatashita, last year's champ, in the 137 pound class to become the new champion in that division.

In the 147 pound class Ron Preston pinned Stan Ropera of Varsity to capture another championship for the Western Mustangs. At 157, Bill Gray of OAC dethroned Bill Bush of Toronto in the finals to win the championship in the division. Ian Thompson of Western dethroned Fred Siemonson of Queens to become champ in the 167 pound class. At 177, Hal Blewald of the Redmen won a very close decision over A. Brightwell of OAC. Doug Hamilton of Toronto dethroned Joe Berthelot of Quebec in the 191 pound class finals. Colin Hubling, in the heavyweight division, recaptured his title by beating L. Burt of OAC.

In the 147 pound class Jami Waddell placed third after winning his preliminary bout. Cec Woods came fourth at 147 replacing Hugh Stevens who was injured and could not come out for the meet. Laird Sloan was eliminated early in the meet. Don Menard placed third at 167. Roger Bailek came fourth at 191. Hughes did not place at all being beaten twice in a row.

Kirk Whipper, the Toronto coach, is protesting the decision given to Glynn Leyshon in the 137 pound class. Leyshon beat Tom Hatashita of Toronto, and Whipper claims Hatashita was not given points for certain advantages he was gaining. The scorers and the referees all agree that everything was on the up and up but Whipper is still protesting.

Mike Yuhasz, the Redmen coach, says that the meet was very well handled and all in all it was a good weekend.

Cage 5 Stopped; Cup Game Tonite

By MARTY GOODMAN

Queen's Golden Gaels ended all McGill hopes of finishing in one of the money spots in the Intercollegiate basketball standing Saturday night when they outran the Redmen 63-52 at Athletics Night IV. The win also assured the Kingston crew of third place.

The Redmen get another chance to make good when they meet the YMHA Blues tonight at Mont St. Louis for the Dadds Cup, emblematic of city basketball supremacy. The game will be the second of a doubleheader, starting at 8 p.m. The preliminary will be a regular MBL league tilt.

Once again Saturday the McGill reserves turned in fine games, but Coach Joe Anderson was hit by lack of bench strength early in the game when Alf Suarez sprained his ankle. The senior mentor was also forced to use Gordie Edwards sparingly, as the classy guard had been laid low with flu all week.

Harry Whipper and Hugh Raphael both did yeoman duty for the Redmen, as the McGill squad fought desperately in the last half to make up a 15 point deficit.

Starting quickly, the Gaels had displayed some mighty scoring power to move into a 35-20 half-time lead, but a zone defence at the start of the third quarter slowed them down while the McGill offensive began to click. Both teams went in flurries with McGill falling behind again at the end of the canto 50-36. The final drive only shortened the difference by 4 markers.

Bob Purcell was high scorer of the contest as he hit for 13 points, 10 of them in the first half. Queen's collected many of their baskets on fast-breaking plays that saw the ball thrown into one of the posts, and then the forwards cut in to take the hand-offs. Don Griffin, last year's leading scorer, picked up three baskets by holding the ball as his men ran past, then pivoting for the easy lay-up shot.

Sheldon Merling did well in the shooting department, hitting on six of his 13 shots to lead the Redmen scoring with 12 points. This was one of the McGill troubles—a center playing most of the game and only taking 13 tries is way below usual. The six-foot McGill captain sank some pretty hooks from the side, and it seemed to be one of his 'on' nights.

A fast first canto saw Queen's quickly assume control and move ahead 15-10. They capitalized on McGill mistakes to increase the margin to 35-20 at half, and the play was fairly even the rest of the way. The switch to a zone defence for the third quarter proved highly successful as the Gaels could not get the rebounds out to their guards for easy set-shots, and enabled McGill to save up for a final drive. The final quarter saw the Redmen pull up to 55-46 in a final flurry. Lack of rebounding power once again prevented them from coming any closer and Frank Tindall's boys ran the rest of the way to break even on their 1953 schedule, five wins and five losses.

Summary:
QUEEN'S (63)—Oliver 10, Griffin 12, Lyon 5, Fedy 2, Purcell 13, Donnelly 6, Atwood 5, Dyson, Elder 10.
MCGILL (52)—Merling 12, Garbuz 5, Mikalchicki 10, Raphael 8, Suarez 2, Edwards 6, Whipper 9, Reszpetnik, Tarasofsky, Anderson.

Puck Crew Mauls Wolverines Twice

By LES DALY

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Feb. 28.—The Redmen really went on a spree here this weekend. They invaded the University of Michigan and belted the Wolverines right into the middle of next week. The Wolverines, "National" Collegiate champs, just couldn't cope with the Red and White onslaught and were ploughed under 7-0 in the first tilt and edged in the second session by a 2-1 count.

The first fracas was a runaway for the Red and White. The Michigan offence leaked like a sieve and the Redmen poured through on netminder Willie Ikola. This boy Ikola is a pretty fine goal janitor but he could just as well have stayed at home for all the good he did. Rocky's raiders just stormed in and before the home town fans could figure out what was happening the Redmen had banged in four goals.

Rocky had his team working in slick style. The attacking trios were clicking and the defence corps was solid as Gibraltar.

Shaw and Shutz stood out for the Redmen in the first game. Both guys scored two markers and an assist apiece with the other three goals going to McGowan, English and Constable. Assists were a dime a dozen as Lynch and Emo picked up two each and Constable, Kent, McElheron and English got one apiece.

Bob MacLellan, between the pipes for the Redmen, turned in a sensational game as usual. The big guy kept his cage empty, kicking pucks out all over the place. He pulled off saves that had to be seen to be believed as he stalled the heavy-hitting Wolverine attackers and racked up his first shut out of the season.

After they were down 4-0 the Wolverines seemed to fade and just played out the clock. They didn't show too much fight and seemed to give the game up as a lost cause.

The Saturday night set-to was a different story. The game was lighter than a Hollywood sweater and the final result was a toss-up till the final siren.

The first session saw the play shoot from one end to the other with both netminders making great plays on a couple of tough chances. The Wolverines got their first goal of the weekend when Johnny Matchett beat MacLellan to put the Michigan men ahead 1-0.

The Red and White got that one back when centremen Pete Constable banged one past Ikola in the third period. It was Constable's second goal of the series and came on an assist from Robertson.

With only three minutes remaining, Pete Constable got his second goal as he took passes from Schutz and McElheron, raced in on Ikola and blasted the disc into the cage. That put the Redmen in front 2-1 and wound up the scoring for the night.

2001 MCGILL COLLEGE AVE. Corner BURNSIDE

'Sweetheart of Sigma Chi' Temporarily Kidnapped

LOST: One international sweetheart. Finder please notify the Sigma Chi Fraternity as soon as possible.

This was the situation late Friday night, as the loyal sons of Sigma Chi gathered at the Mount Royal Hotel for their annual shindig. The international sweetheart mentioned above, being International Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, to be precise, was scheduled to crown the McGill Queen of Sigma Chi. There was only one thing missing—the aforementioned sweetheart.

As the powers that be in Sigma Chi were pulling out what was left of their hair, and biting what was left of their finger-nails, and wondering just exactly what they were going to do, members of another organization were quietly laughing themselves sick.

The snakes in the grass, it appears, were the members of Zeta Psi Fraternity. In the guise of official welcome from Sigma Chi, they had quietly abducted the fair sweetheart and driven her to a Westmount residence. They had not bothered to inform her of their true identity.

The darling snatched was carried out as follows: Two trusty conspirators went out to the airplane as it was touching the ground, dressed for the occasion in Dinner Jacket and tails. They had been foresighted enough to approach the Canadian Customs beforehand, and warn them that they would want to leave as quickly as possible.

Other members of the plot were engaged in making sure that the genuine official greeters would not step in and foul up the works. This was not done violently—indeed it was quite painless. The officials were led to believe that they were being interviewed by the Press. The interview continued until the roar of exhaust fumes, and the cheerful toot of a car horn in a pre-arranged signal informed these "journalists" that the sweetheart was away.

The two pseudo-welcoming officials in the meantime, had met this fair specimen of American Womanhood, rushed her through customs and crowds of genuine journalists, and taken her off.

new coins.....old chaos

We were handed a silver dollar the other day—one of those bright new ones with our Queen's head on it. It made us think how, nowadays, we take our money for granted. Perhaps we feel it isn't going to stay around long enough to matter.

Even 100 years ago, though, we might have watched our coins more closely. For coinage in Canada was in chaos. There was Sterling; there was the decimal system we know now; there were "York Shillings" and "Halifax Dollars"—and quite a few more.

Still, in spite of variety, there wasn't enough coinage to go around for the country's business. That was the day, therefore, when Molson's issued their own "token" bills and coins with which, for instance, they bought barley. These interesting bits of currency carried symbols of the brewing process. They're collectors' items today.

By 1858 the Province of Canada (Ontario and Quebec) had adopted decimal currency—though in the early 60's Bonsecour Market prices were still quoted in shillings and pence.

Molson's ceased issuing their token coins years ago. But it is pleasantly reassuring to reflect that other Molson's production continued—for the refreshment and enjoyment of succeeding generations of Canadians.

FRATERNITY MANAGERS

If the address or telephone number of your fraternity house is not correctly listed in the Directory of Students, please notify Miss Heasley, McGill Union, without delay. The correct information is required for the McGill Handbook 1953-54.

Union Vice-president

Alex Derry

Platform

During my past year and a half at McGill, I have found a growing apathy for the Men's Union, which seems to have started several years ago. In fact, the Union is ceasing to be the centre of campus life, and is becoming merely a place for organizations to carry out their business. This should not be the primary reason for the existence of the Union. The Union should serve as a centre for relaxation and recreation. At present less than 20 per cent of McGill's students use it for this purpose. Perhaps some of the fault lies in the policy of the past administration, and new ideas and opinions are needed to handle the day to day problems.

Great physical changes in the Union are at present unnecessary, and would only divert money from the New Union Fund, which would delay the construction of one of the most needed buildings on the campus. I believe that a minor renovation should be made, when necessary, in the present building, but that no major renovations should take place, as $50,000 has been allocated already for this purpose in the last five years. A higher standard of cleanliness could improve the building a great deal at no additional expense.

The buying of folding chairs for the use of campus clubs should be completed, because they are urgently required, and would be available for the new building. The purchase of a stock of folding chairs on a yearly proportionate basis. This would save a large amount of rental money at present being spent.

My latest support will go to the New Union Committee. I would also like to see completed the Union Five-Year Plan for renovation of the Union. The Lounge on the second floor could very well do with more magazines. I would try to get the rental of a TV set and something. Students hear about but seldom see. The Radios in the Lounge could also do with a repairing.

Since the New Union will not be with us for a while, all my platform has been towards improvement of present facilities. This I will make sure is done.

While I am perfectly aware that in my function as vice-president of the Union I will be largely called upon to carry action through, not to initiate it, nevertheless, I would like to see several changes in the Union carried out. I will do my best to see that the following improvements are carried into effect.

Although it is manifestly impossible to maintain continually a policy of increasing food quality and lowering prices, nonetheless, I believe that if the unpopular dishes were eliminated, new menus introduced, and a greater frequency of the more popular meals implemented, that food service would rapidly improve.

I would like to see started the purchase of a stock of folding chairs on a yearly proportionate basis. This would save a large amount of rental money at present being spent.

Dave Gould.

Dave Gould, a third year Arts Student who entered McGill on a scholarship, from Westmount High, has been active in many campus activities, and has held several responsible executive positions.

As quartermaster of the Redmen Band last year, he completely reorganized the whole department and greatly increased its efficiency. This year he has been elected manager of the Band. It was largely due to his efforts alone that the Band played at the Winter Carnival Float Parade. He has become a 2nd Lieutenant in the COTC and was elected to the Mess Committee. In addition to this he was in charge of all army duties for the Tri-Service Ball, which included decorations, sym contract, bar sales, army ticket sales, and publicity.

Some of his other activities include the Red and White Review, Choral Society, the P.C. Club (where he is publicity manager), the Special Group of the Choral Society, the Camera Club, and the McGill Film Unit's production of Gruech.

To every position he has held he has brought a considerable talent for organization and executive work. We feel sure that he will continue to apply his genius at administration in the new field also.

So, to the new field also:
Don Stirling
Alan Davies
Don Savage
Cameron Cairns

Stirling—p. 4

He is the man who has the background and necessary impetus to fulfill his duties competently while always being a credit to his faculty.

We the undersigned hereby nominate Don Stirling as president of the A.S.U.S.

Bob MacLellan
Graeme Teasdale
Roger Balkie
Dave Artis
Charlotte Gulick
Wally Eno
John Lough.

Jonas—p. 3

1. University Entrance Scholarship.
2. H. M. McKay Memorial Scholarship.
3. Quebec Department of Mines Scholarship.

4. SEC Silver Award;
5. EUS Gold Award;
6. ASUS Gold Award;

John has also shown an interest in intramural sports, playing on basketball, volleyball, touch football, badminton, and swimming teams.

Despite these many activities, John has succeeded in coming at the top of his year in first and second, and has successfully led his class since.

John stands for election on the basis of this outstanding record. If you feel as we do that the position demands intelligence, high calibre executive ability, integrity, and an unlimited capacity for hard work, John is the man you will want to represent you as President of the Students' Union for 1953-54.

Jim Duxbury

Sam, who came to McGill from Brown University in Providence, R.I., has, through his high school and college life, obtained great experience in numerous executive positions. At high school he edited the school newspaper and annual, and served as chairman of several student council committees.

Extra-curricularly speaking, he participated in major sports, notably football and baseball, and was president of the Dramatic Society. At Brown he continued in his executive capacity as a member of the Freshman Council, the governing body of the campus as a representative of his faculty in inter-faculty sports.

He arrived on our campus last year, and spent his first year at McGill orienting himself in the new academic life. Now, having felt the pulse of the campus as a comparative onlooker—in this respect he has already served as assistant tennis and program managers, whose full duties he will assume in the Fall—we consider him fit to participate in student activities more fully.
